Mary Meaney’s Cycle of Success

As she approached her final years, Mary Meaney ’42 turned her thoughts to her early years and the college that prepared her for a life of success and meaning. In an act of lasting gratitude, Mary named Saint Joseph College as the beneficiary of her retirement account, a decision unknown to the College until after Mary’s death in January 2008.

“Mary held her alma mater in high regard,” said Mary Kate Cox, assistant vice president of Institutional Advancement. “She had close relationships with her classmates and was an ongoing supporter of the College’s annual fund. I believe her final gift was a way for her to acknowledge the College’s place in her life and to ensure its continued place in the lives of future students.”

Mary was an active member of the Class of 1942: she served as class president for four years and was elected by her classmates for inclusion in Who’s Who of American Students. An Economics major, Mary headed to New York City after graduation and worked in executive positions at Macy’s and Helena Rubenstein. She continued her education at Columbia University where she completed coursework in Personnel Administration. A Human Resource professional, Mary returned to Connecticut to serve as director of Human Resources at New Britain General Hospital. She retired in 1998 as a vice president.

Throughout her life and career, Mary credited Saint Joseph College for instilling in her the confidence and knowledge needed to excel — a cycle of success she will help to perpetuate.

Dear Friends of Saint Joseph College,

This has been a year of transition, planning and accomplishment. As I review the various events, I am both grateful for and proud of my colleagues, our alumnae/i and supporters, and this wonderful institution. In a year when we made a transition of leadership, we were able to remain committed to our mission and advance an ambitious agenda. During the 2007-2008 fiscal year, we planned and completed the construction of two state-of-the art residence halls; introduced new programs in Autism Spectrum Disorders and Latino Community Practice to better serve the diverse needs of our community; admitted the largest incoming first-year class (225 new students) in the College’s history; launched the Charter School at Asylum Hill; completed a comprehensive Strategic Plan; and initiated planning for our first doctoral program — in Pharmacy. I attribute our success to a combination of the responsible fiscal management of our dedicated Trustees, the courage of faculty and staff to think creatively, and the invaluable support of donors like you.

In the midst of a challenging economic climate, Saint Joseph College continues to: provide rigorous academic programs, give personal attention, instill Catholic and Mercy values within a caring community, position students for successful careers, and prepare them as leaders ready to respond to societal needs. Our wonderful students justify our pride and the support we invest in them. As we move forward into this promising new year, we will continue to cultivate collaborations with organizations in ways that broaden our reach into the global community.

I truly appreciate the individuals, foundations, corporations and community partners who contribute to Saint Joseph College. I ask for your continued support in fulfilling the mission established by the Sisters of Mercy more than three quarters of a century ago. Together, we will allow this community and this College to grow even stronger and more effective as it encourages strong ethical values, personal integrity, and a sense of responsibility to the needs of society.

Fiscal Year 2008 was an important transitional year for Saint Joseph College. The community enthusiastically welcomed Dr. Pamela Trotman Reid as our eighth President in January 2008. Additionally, during the year, the Board of Trustees approved the financing and construction of two new residence halls. These were the first residence halls built by the College since 1966 and offer modern apartment-style suites that will support growth in our residential population. While these exciting events have strengthened the College’s future, the economic uncertainty caused by the credit market turmoil and the subsequent stock market decline were distressing as endowment earnings and values dropped.

For the year ending June 30, 2008, the College achieved an operating surplus of $949,000 compared to a surplus of $1,970,000 in the previous year. Total revenues remained relatively constant from the prior year, while expenses increased at a modest rate of 2.6%. Total net assets decreased $2,219,000 during the year, however, due to a loss in endowment earning and a one-time debt extinguishment expense associated with the bond financing for the new residence halls.

Exhibit A shows the sources of revenues, with Net Tuition and Fees constituting 49% of total income while Sale and Services of Educational Departments (tuition revenue from The Gengras Center and The School for Young Children) provided 23% of total income. Exhibit B summarizes operating expenses, with Instructional costs representing 31% of total expenditures, followed by Public Service (instructional costs for The Gengras Center and The School for Young Children) at 18%.

Despite the current economic climate, Saint Joseph College remains optimistic that enrollment will continue to grow and the institution will maintain strong financial operations.

It’s always a humbling and energizing experience to tell the story of our accomplishments in the Annual Report. Humbling, because I’m reminded again of the importance of loyal donors the College is fortunate to call its own. Energizing, because your expression of faith in our mission through your financial support gives us the confidence to set larger goals for the institution as a whole.

This year the College’s Annual Fund again exceeded its goal and has now grown to more than $650,000, an increase of nearly $100,000 over last year. You may recall that in 2005 we charted an ambitious goal of raising the Annual Fund to the $1 million level by 2012. These two consecutive years of double-digit growth bode well for our future.

Increases in dollars and in the number of gifts were seen in nearly all of the key constituencies of our wider community: alumnae/i giving was up by 18% for undergraduates and 13% for graduates; faculty and staff giving was up by 33%; and gifts from friends were up by an astounding 83%.

A new giving society, the 75th Anniversary Society, was inaugurated in honor of our closing celebration of this milestone year. This appeal asked some of our most generous donors not only to increase their giving, but to pledge to give that increased amount for two consecutive years. This was an outstanding success and has already placed our 2009 Annual Fund on track to meet its $700,000 goal.

Restricted gifts to the College added nearly $3.5 million in major gift commitments in fiscal year 2008. These gifts came from a variety of sources: alumnae/i, friends, corporations, foundations and federal and state agencies. As in past years, many of these gifts reflect long-standing relationships which have endured through much of the College’s 75-year history and show great potential for helping the College prosper in the future.

College designated projects received substantial support from key donors. Several former trustees and long-time donors, led by Gene F. H’04 and Kathleen Barry Bruyette ’49, H’04, P’81, collaborated to support Interim President Carol Guardo’s vision of creating an appropriate office space for future presidents and their staff. With nearly $400,000 raised, the Social Room was transformed into a state-of-the-art conference room for small group meetings, a welcoming reception area, space for the president’s staff and the president’s office. The space was dedicated in August, with the Carol J. Guardo Conference Room so named by the trustees in honor of Dr. Guardo’s contributions during her tenure here.

Once again the Maximilian E. and Marion O. Hoffman Foundation gave key support to a significant capital project on campus. Supporting an initiative directly affecting the College’s ability to remain competitive, a grant was secured to assist in the Residence Halls Project. This project encompassed the construction of two new residences to house 75 students, as well as needed upgrades to existing halls. The new halls were immediately filled with students eager to experience living as a group in suite-style units. Other grant-funded projects include a yurt for The Gengras Center’s recreation program funded by The Greater Hartford Jaycees. Additional support for The Gengras Center came from a grant from American Savings Foundation for the multi-purpose room and from the Bissell Foundation for the expansion of the music program.

Other support came from individuals and organizations who share our commitment to the community and embrace our Mercy values of compassionate service. The Latino Community Practice program, now well-established and with a full roster of students, attracted two grants from the Aetna Foundation.

Scholarship gifts totaled more than a half million dollars, coming from donors who supported gifts to unrestricted and named scholarships, and several gifts made by bequest. Alumnae/i and friends know well the transformative experience that our high quality, private college education brings to all students, and how our mission drives us to ensure access to students from all walks of life. These scholarship donors have often used their giving as a way to honor a loved one, thereby ensuring a legacy of education for years to come.

It would be difficult to match the record of fiscal year 2007 for bequest gifts, but this year brought a particularly special bequest from Reverend Joseph “Cal” Gengras, whose generous spirit and vision are never far from us through the lasting impact of The Gengras Center. His work lives on and is helped immensely by his generous bequest to The Gengras Center.

Many factors large and small contribute to the fundraising success of any College. We are grateful for the impact President Pam Reid has had on our work. Her leadership and vision, her energy and her unqualified commitment to the College and all it stands for have helped all of us reaffirm our belief in the brightest of futures for this beloved College. Thank you for believing along with us.

With appreciation and thanks,

Janet Bailey Faude, M.Ed.
Vice President of Institutional Advancement

The Annual Fund Honor Roll

Gifts to the Annual Fund make a difference every day, enabling every student, faculty member and department to count on needed support for scholarships, guest speakers, research and every facet of a Saint Joseph College education. In short, a strong Annual Fund equates to a strong College. Thank you to the Annual Fund donors of $1,000 or more who compose the Annual Fund Honor Roll.

Ways to Give

Make an online gift or pledge using the College’s Web site: www.sjc.edu/giving.

Use the enclosed envelope to send a check to the College.

Credit card donations are accepted online on the College’s Web site, or via telephone or mail. For credit card gifts via mail, please use the enclosed envelope, or call 860.231.5364 with your American Express, Visa, Discover, MasterCard, or Diners Club information.

Contributing to Saint Joseph College with appreciated securities may generate a favorable tax benefit for you. Contact Mary Kate Cox at 860.231.5206 or mkcox@sjc.edu to find out more today.

Pledges allow you to make a gift commitment over a period of time on a payment schedule. Pledge online at the College’s Web site or use the enclosed envelope to advise us of your pledge by mail.

Many companies match their employees’ personal gifts to educational institutions like Saint Joseph College. Please contact your company’s personnel office to find out if they match gifts. Matched gifts are credited to you and count toward your giving club membership recognition.

Established in 1990, the Golden Dome Society was formed to recognize and honor alumnae/i, parents and friends who have included Saint Joseph College in their estate plans. Please view the Bequest section of the College’s Web site for assistance in naming the College in your will or contact Mary Kate Cox at 860.231.5206 or mkcox@sjc.edu.
In the 1930s, the Sisters of Mercy established the College in the midst of the Great Depression. With a vision of leadership, they began preparing young women for important roles in our communities.

Sixty-one students comprised that first class — today we have more than 1,900 undergraduate and graduate students preparing for meaningful lives and careers at Saint Joseph College.

As in our early years, we are again in the midst of hard economic times. It simply costs more today to provide a good education to our students.

Because you care about Saint Joseph College, we ask you to please support the Annual Fund during this time of rejuvenation and growth.

You may not know all our students’ names, but they’ll carry gratitude in their hearts for your kindness and generosity as they take their places in society.

Please send your donation to the Annual Fund using the envelope provided or by going online to www.sjc.edu/giving.

Saint Joseph College — founded by the Sisters of Mercy, sustained by your support.
