The liberal arts curriculum at Saint Joseph College responds directly to the need for internationally aware, liberally educated, technology-literate global citizens. Since its inception in 1994, the Office of International Studies & Programs has been committed to providing opportunities for the internationalization of students, staff and faculty by working with academic departments, globally focused community groups, and foreign institutions of higher learning. Additionally, Saint Joseph College students have the opportunity to gain first-hand knowledge of world cultures through a variety of study abroad programs, travel seminars, and overseas service projects.

For students seeking additional international focus, Saint Joseph College offers majors and minors in world languages and International Studies. Study abroad opportunities are also available for students in all academic disciplines.

“To build a successful career in International Studies, you need to develop cross-cultural competencies, strong communication skills, and the ability to connect to complex global issues. Add to that the awareness of how our personal biases and national politics influence the ways we understand people, geographies and events around the world.”

— Mary Helen Pombo ’08, graduate student at the London School of Economics

For more information about international careers, the International Studies major or minor, study abroad opportunities, or other international programs offered at Saint Joseph College, please contact:

The Office of International Studies & Programs
Lynch Hall, Room 216
860.231.5470
international@sjc.edu
During the 21st century, the multiple dimensions of the globalizing world call for a comprehension and ability to function in a new and highly interdependent work environment. Professional leaders now realize that fluency in multiple languages and multicultural sensitivity are essential if the United States is to participate effectively in the new global community.

Careers with an international focus can be found in all segments of business and society. Examples include:

In Government
- U.S. Department of State
- Federal Reserve Bank
- U.S. Information Agency
- U.S. Treasury Department
- U.S. Department of Defense

In Business
- Investment Banking
- Management Consulting
- Import/Export
- Translations
- International Law
- International Business

In Education
- Language Teachers
- Area Studies/Global Studies
- International Programs

In the Sciences
- Environment
- International Health Care
- Natural Resources Management

In Non-Governmental Organizations
- Human Rights
- International Development
- Health and Infectious Diseases
- Peace and Justice

Inter-Governmental Organizations
- United Nations
- World Health Organization
- World Bank
- International Monetary Fund

In the Fine and Performing Arts
- Museum Education
- Dance and Music Management

For further information about the wide variety of international careers available, we recommend the following books and Web sites:

- www.cdsintl.org
- www.state.gov/careers
- www.transitionsabroad.com
- [www.overn seasjobs.com](http://www.overn seasjobs.com)
- www.atanet.org
- www.goinglobal.com
- www.fpa.org/jobs_contact2423
- www.teachabroad.com/search.cfm
- www.worldteach.org
- www.devnetjobs.org
- [www.ideal ist.org](http://www.ideal ist.org)
- www.apsia.org
- icsc.un.org/joblinks.asp

“All business is global, yet all markets are local. This globalized multicultural world needs leaders with a keen understanding of national cultures. By learning from other countries, these leaders develop the best thinking and best practices from around the world enabling them to leverage culture as a tool for competitive advantage.

— Robert Rosen, author, Global Literacies